GRAND JURORS
HEARING TALE
OF SHOOTINGNegro, Held for Murder, Takes Plight
Very Lightly

BULLETIN

The grand jury which was recalled to hear the testimony of a number of witnesses in connection with the fatal shooting of Isaiah Jarman by Ira "Sleepy" Chatman in a Negro labor camp at Compton late Saturday night, returned their report to Judge Harry Edwards in the Circuit Court at 2 o'clock this afternoon. In the report, Chatman was indicted on a charge of murder.

State Attorney Mark Keller asked for an immediate trial, and Judge Edwards, who halted another case which was in progress, ordered that Chatman be arraigned tomorrow morning at 9:30.

About a score of witnesses were on hand when the grand jury reconvened this morning at 10 o'clock to testify. No recess for lunch was taken at 12 o'clock, the grand jury continuing their investigation until all of the witnesses had been examined.

State Attorney Keller clashed with Chatman's counsel during the hearing of evidence before the grand jury when the latter called two of the witnesses from the grand jury waiting room into another room. Chatman's wife, Mrs. Rose Chatman, and his brother were called from the room and taken to another room, it was said.

The September grand jury convened in a specially called session this morning at 10 o'clock to hear testimony of several witnesses in connection with the alleged cold blooded murder of Isaiah Jarman at the hands of Ira "Sleepy" Chatman, both Negro laborers employed by the Regenhart Construction Company, in Compton late Saturday night. State Attorney Mark C. Keller is making every effort to bring the case to a speedy trial and to have the matter disposed of at the present term of court.

Deputy Sheriff Fred Richardson went to Compton yesterday afternoon where he served grand jury subpoenas of negro laborers in the Regenhart camp, as well as citizens of Compton who are acquainted with some of the angles in connection with the shooting.

In the meantime "Sleepy" Chatman, the murderer, appears to consider his act lightly and is passing his time with six other prisoners in the Lee county jail. He conferred with his attorney yesterday and then returned to the corridor and engaged in conversation with his associates.

Attempted Suicide
Jarman, who was shot down in Chatman's shack, it will be recalled, was the same man who attempted to take his own life during the early part of the fall by drinking the contents of a bottle of iodine. While apparently suffering from an attack of "blues" and in a despondent frame of mind, Jarman left his work early one afternoon and returned to camp, wrote a disconnected suicide note in which he requested that his body be sent to his parents in Georgia, then drank the contents of the bottle of iodine. Fellow workmen, returning to their camp, found him almost dead. A physician was summoned and Jarman was revived, and while quite sick for a few days, completely recovered.

Chatman is alleged, according to reports made to Sheriff Ward Miller in his investigation following the shooting, to have been the "middle-man" in the handling of liquor between Mendota bootleggers and members of the road building gang. The liquor is said to have been supplied from what was known as the "stucco house" in the east section of the city of Mendota.

Slayers' Trial Nov. 13

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 30.—(AP)—The trial of George Harsh and Richard Gallogly, college students indicted for the murder of two store clerks during a recent series of holdups here, was set tentatively today for Nov. 13 by the Solicitor general's office.

MERGER OF DAIRY FIRMS

New York, Oct. 30.—(AP)—President T. H. McInerney of the National Dairy Products Corporation of New York, admitted today the company was negotiating to acquire the Arctic Dairy Products Company of Detroit.

TWO MILES OF DECORATED CARS WILL BE SEEN IN FALL FESTIVAL
FEATURE PARADE THURSDAY NIGHT

The committee in charge of the auto parade to be held Thursday evening in connection with the Harvest Festival is meeting with great success in securing decorated cars and floats. All of the factories in the city will be represented with floats and all of the automobile dealers have also entered cars of the latest model to be shown in the monster parade.

Any citizen desiring to enter the parade may do so by forming in the line Thursday evening, the only requirement being that the car be decorated. The line will form on East Fellows street near Assembly park at 7 o'clock Thursday evening. It will not be necessary to get in touch with the committee in order to compete for the prizes, which consist of three purses of $75, $50 and $25. The parade will cross the Galena avenue bridge and pass in review in front of the Nachusa Tavern where the judges will decide the prize winners. More than half a hundred decorated cars and floats were entered this morning and indications point to a procession not less than two miles in length.

Dixon's Fall Festival Booster trip, "commanded" by Walter Knack, chairman of the Booster Committee, made Monday proved a wonderful success. One hundred boosters in twenty-five cars made up the boosters' caravan. The distance covered was 195 miles. Over 5,000 hand bills and 5,000 tickets were distributed along the route. The caravan left Dixon at 9 o'clock and returned at 5:30 o'clock, every one feeling that it proved a great and profitable advertising trip for the Dixon merchants. The cities visited were Amboy, Lee Center, Franklin Grove, Ashton, Rochelle, Chana, Oregon Mt., Morris, Polo, Chadwick, Mt. Carroll, Lanark, Milledgeville, Sterling and Rock Falls.

The two efficient buglers who "blew" the residents from their hiding places in each town visited were Lester Pitcher and Robert Kennedy. The young men did good work.

Each automobile was decorated with American flags and banners. At each of the places visited hundreds of people gathered in the streets to welcome the boosters and willingly listened to the talks concerning Dixon and Dixon's merchants. The boosters were assured by many people that they would visit Dixon on some of the days during the festival.

"I am very grateful to all those who made the trip with my committee and I feel confident that our trip will be instrumental in bringing thousands of people to Dixon during the festival," said Mr. Knack this morning.

Instructions on Scratching Ballot
Given by Carlstrom

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Instructions for those who desire to vote a "scratched" ticket at the election Nov. 6 was offered today in an opinion by Attorney General Carlstrom, delivered to State Senator Harry Wilson of Pinckneyville.

"To vote a straight party ticket, the Attorney General explained it is only necessary to place a cross in the circle to the left of the party name at the top of the ballot.

A person wishing to vote a scratched ticket should make a mark in the circle to the left of the party appellation of one party, and where he desires to vote for persons in another party ticket, merely cross over and make a cross in the square in front of the name of the person for whom he wishes to vote.

The only essential change in the ballots this year is that the names of the presidential electors will not appear on the ballots, thus making it unnecessary for the voters to vote for all 29 electors. This is done by placing a cross in the square in front of the name of the presidential candidate.

NEGRO HELD UP PASSENGERS ON CRACK EXPRESSGot $250 from the Passengers, Jumped from Speeding Train

Chicago, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Passengers on the Michigan Central Western Express, New York-Chicago extra fare train, were held up last night by an armed Negro who got aboard at Michigan City, Ind., and jumped as the train was roaring toward Gary.

He fired one wild shot at a brakeman who walked into the observation car while the robbery was in progress. With about $250 in cash which he had taken from two passengers, the Negro ran to the front platform and leaped from the train, which was making 45 miles an hour.

The robber climbed aboard when the train, due in Chicago at 9:05 p. m., made a short stop at Michigan City. When the train was in motion he swung around and upward from his position under the trap door on the observation car, smashed the glass and crawled in.

He swept the score of men and women passengers with his revolver, and commanded them to give him their money and jewels. Robert A. McCullough, Chicago, handed over $179 and I. E. Colvin, head of the Metal Glass Products Company of Belding, Mich., gave the robber $80.

Mrs. Colvin dropped her jewels to the floor as did several other women. E. J. Owens, Detroit, brakeman, stepped in upon the robbery before he realized what was going on. The robber fired the bullet striking above the brakeman's head. The Negro then ran to the front of the car and leaped from the train.

Mr. and Mrs. Emmet Spanzole of Milledgeville were visitors in Dixon Sunday.

NORRIS SWALLOWS BITTER PILL WHEN HE BOLTS PARTYIs forced to Vouch for Ancient Enemy, Sen.
Jos. Robinson

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 30.—Senator Norris of Nebraska swallowed a "bitter pill" when he endorsed the Democratic presidential ticket, because in so doing he was forced to vouch for his ancient enemy of the Senate, Senator Robinson of Arkansas, Congressman Walter H. Newton asserted here today, commenting on the Norris announcement.

Newton, director of the Speakers Bureau of the Republican National Committee, pointed out passages in the Congressional Record in which these senators engaged in sharp acrimonious controversy. These passages have been supplied to Republican speakers, it was intimated.

Robinson and Norris have been leaders of opposing forces in the senate of the question of government ownership of Muscle Shoals, Norris advocating such ownership and Robinson bitterly opposing it, Newton explained.

Quarrel Recalled
"Governor Smith has opened up another debate between himself and his fellow nominee, Senator Robinson, and the leaders of his party," Mr. Newton said.

"In the 68th Congress, Second Session, Senator Norris of Nebraska, whom Governor Smith and the entire Democratic organization today is courting, had a bill before the Senate providing for government ownership and operation of Muscle Shoals, a proposition which Senator Norris has consistently supported, in season and out of season, ever since the Muscle Shoals plant was constructed. Senator Newton introduced an amendment to Senator Norris' bill in the form of a substitute, which provided that the government should lease Muscle Shoals and vested the President of the United States with the necessary power to enter into, and complete such a lease on behalf of the government."

"On January 8, 1925 the Senate voted on the Underwood substitute to the Norris ownership bill. The Underwood substitute was carried by a vote of 48 to 38 with ten not voting. Of the 48 supporting the Underwood substitute, 18 were Democrats, including Robinson."

"So three years ago, 18 Democrats of the Senate, including the present Vice-presidential nominee, and Senator Harrison of Mississippi, who occupies a very high executive position in the National Democratic headquarters and Senator R. I. Gerry, chairman of the Advisory Committee at Democratic National Headquarters, now directing Smith's campaign, took exactly the same view."

MELLON URGES ELECTORATE TO USE JUDGMENTApplication of Business Principles is His Plea

Washington, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Secretary Mellon last night asked the electorate to apply business principles to its choice of a President and, if it approves of the administration of President Coolidge and the Republican party, to continue that party in power.

"In my own business experience," he said in an address which was broadcast by radio, "when a management gave me a satisfactory balance sheet at the end of the year, showing a reduction in overhead, a decrease in indebtedness and at the same time an increase in dividends, I would be unwilling to see a change in management."

Declaring the American government to be "the greatest business enterprise in the world," and infinitely complex in its effect upon its individual citizens and in its relations to what he termed "those great economic forces by which the average man's welfare is greatly affected," the Secretary said that at the head of such a "business" he wanted to see "a man of ability, who is thoroughly familiar with all of its phases," one who "understands these great economic forces with which he must deal," and who has a feeling and sympathy for the conditions under which the average man and woman must live.

"Herbert Hoover measures up to these qualifications," he said. "The government will be safe in his hands. As a Republican and an American I shall support him and vote for him because I believe his election will do the most for the progress and prosperity of the country and for the larger welfare of the world."

Terse Items of News Gathered in Dixon During Day

COUNCIL WILL MEET

The regular weekly meeting of the city council will be held this evening at 8 o'clock at the city hall.

PATIENT AT HOSPITAL

Rev. S. J. Lindsay of Oregon, who is well known in Dixon, has been admitted to the Dixon public hospital for treatment.

BABY DAUGHTER DEAD

Beverly Kested, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Shelby Kested of rural route 3, died this morning at the Dixon public hospital. The child was born Sunday. Funeral services were conducted this afternoon at 2:30 with interment in Oakwood.

LEGION MEETS TONIGHT

Members of Dixon post, No. 12, American Legion will enjoy an interesting meeting this evening at their hall. Following the regular business session, the entertainment committee have arranged a brief but interesting program and all of the members are urged to be present, as this is the first of a series of special events to be held through the winter season. The entertainment will start promptly at 8 o'clock.

FACSIMILE BALLOTS

On page 9 of this issue of The Telegraph is published a facsimile of the official ballots which will be handed the voters at the general election next Tuesday. There will be two ballots, the larger one carrying the names of the candidates of the various parties, and a smaller ballot on the proposal for the state to issue bonds for the purpose of establishing game preserves, the bonds and interest to be paid for out of hunting and fishing license fees.

IS IT COLD UP THERE?

Members of the police and fire departments at the city hall and many citizens who happened to be on the streets at about 10 o'clock, stopped and marveled at the size of a young man who walked into the city hall. The stranger, a salesman, was in the city on business with the chiefs of both the fire and police departments. His wares were of much less interest than his height, which he admitted was six feet, seven and one-half inches.

CONDITION UNCHANGED

Word received from Dr. E. A. Sickels camp at Jishiba lodge in northern Minnesota is to the effect that Charles Sheffield of Grand Detour is still confined to his bed. Mr. Sheffield's condition will not warrant his return to Dixon with the other members of the camping party who will break camp this week, and it is expected that he will be taken direct to Rochester, Minn., to enter the Mayo hospital. Mr. Sheffield has been confined to his bed ever since his arrival at Jishiba lodge on his way into Canada on a moose hunting expedition with Angier Wilson and Frank M. Coe of this city.

Forreston Marshal
Held Up Last Eve

Freeport, Ill., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Two young bandits armed with sawed off shotguns last night held up J. H. Freese, night marshal of the village of Forreston and manager of a garage there. Failing to obtain any loot they bound and gagged Freese, threw him on the floor of the back room and escaped. Freese rolled to a desk and summoned help by knocking the phone to the floor.

CARD GAME HELD UP

New York, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Five men playing pinochle in a room in the Grand Hotel, 31st Street and Broadway, were held up and robbed of $4,496 in cash and a quantity of jewelry last night by four armed men, one of whom had arranged for the game.

Fuel Columbia for Journey to Rome

Roosevelt Field, L. I., Oct. 30.—(AP)—The monoplane Columbia, veteran of several historic flights, which crashed two weeks ago at the start of a proposed flight to Rome, was fueled today in preparation for another attempt to reach the Eternal City.

The weather was favorable for a take-off. Roger Q. Williams, the pilot, arrived at the field, but would not say whether he intended to start today. Charles A. Levine, the owner, who witnessed the crash at the take-off two weeks ago, was not at the field. Damage to the ship in the previous mishap has been repaired.

YOUNG WOMAN, PROBABLY FATALLY BURNED, FOUND IN POLICE STATION FURNACEAuthorities in Chicago Suburb Unable to Solve Mystery

Chicago, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Freda Kanaak, 29, former school teacher, was found perhaps fatally burned today in the boiler room of the police station at Lake Bluff, a suburb. Her clothing had been removed from her body and destroyed and her arms and legs burned almost to a crisp. She was found by the janitor of the police station when he arrived to coal the furnace. She was taken to a hospital at Lake Forest where little hope is held for her recovery. Mystery surrounds how she was burned and how she arrived in the basement of the police station, although authorities have begun an investigation.

Is Horribly Burned
Dr. A. J. Rissinger of Lake Bluff said the girl's head also was burned to the bone in one place as large as the palm of a hand. He said her arms had been burned to the elbow and her legs and feet burned almost to the knees. She was unconscious and in a severe state of shock when discovered, but regained consciousness later.

Dr. Rissinger said she was unable to talk or would not talk, even to her three brothers who visited her at the hospital. Whether she was trying to shield someone or was unable to talk was undetermined, the doctor said.

Miss Kanaak left her home yesterday afternoon at 1 P. M., to come to Chicago to attend a sales meeting of a publishing house whose encyclopedia she was engaged in selling. She had not been seen since she left home, so far as was learned.

Fired Into Furnace

The police station at Lake Bluff was closed last night at 9:30 and authorities said it appeared the girl was burned after that time, apparently someone having forced her head and arms and legs into the furnace. Dr. Rissinger said he had been unable to make a thorough examination of the girl, because of her critical condition.

Miss Kanaak lived with her family in Deerfield, suburb near Lake Bluff. She formerly was a school teacher, leaving her profession to take up the selling of books. She was regarded as very attractive.

Lake Bluff lies along the North Shore region, bordering the lake between Great Lakes and Lake Forest, north of Evanston.

Identification of the girl was made by means of a letter found in her pocketbook which had been left beside her with a pair of shoes. The remainder of her belongings apparently had been burned in the furnace.

It was learned Miss Kanaak was employed by the F. E. Compton Publishing Co. of Chicago where it was said she had attended the sales meeting yesterday afternoon, leaving for home at 6:15 p. m.

She had been working for the concern since last March and was considered as one of the most efficient and best of the saleswomen.

LOG OF THE GRAF ZEPPELIN.

(By the Associated Press.)

Monday, October 29.

1:45 a. m.—Left Lakehurst, N. J.

3:15 a. m.—Passed over New York City.

5 a. m.—Passed over Block Island off Rhode Island coast.

6:15 a. m.—Passed Chatham, Mass., and headed out to sea.

7:15 a. m.—Sighted by trawler Widegon 75 miles northeast of Chatham.

10:15 a. m.—Sighted 90 miles southwest of Cape Sable, Nova Scotia by steamship Laconia.

2 p. m.—Gave position to Germany as latitude 43 north, longitude 58 west (500 to 600 miles at sea from Chatham).

5:35 p. m.—Reported sighted passing over Trinity Bay, Newfoundland, headed east.

5:50 p. m.—Canso, Nova Scotia, radio station in contact with dirigible, but static prevented messages.

Bucking a moderate southeast gale, the dirigible Graf Zeppelin was far out to sea today over the north Atlantic on her homeward journey to Friedrichshafen.

The exact position of the huge airship, which is completing the first round trip commercial air voyage, was not entirely clear. There was not doubt, however, that she was flying a northerly route along the normal steamship lanes with the possibility that she was heading slightly southwest.

"O. K." on Board.

Although her exact position was obscure because of the lack of position messages from her, there was direct word that everything aboard her was "O. K."

The best available information indicated that the Graf Zeppelin was approximately 600 miles somewhere east or northeast of Cape Race. At noon, Greenwich Meridian time, the steamship Mauretania, westward bound, was in communication with the dirigible. The Mauretania was then about 500 miles directly east of Cape Race, Newfoundland. So clear were the Graf Zeppelin's signals that the operator of the steamship estimated that the air liner could not be more than fifty miles to the north.

Fixed Position.

Later, however, the Mauretania sent a dispatch giving the "authentic position" of the Graf Zeppelin at 7 a. m., Eastern Standard time, as 52:30 north and 40:30 west. This position placed the dirigible about 620 miles northeast of Cape Race.

Messages tending to confirm this also were received in Friedrichshafen, but officials there were hesitant to accept this northern position which would place the air liner in the latitude of southern Labrador as entirely correct.

The messages received at Friedrichshafen said that the ship was proceeding in a northeasterly direction, which should carry her along the true great circle course followed by Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh on his historic New York-to-Paris flight last year.

AIDED BY TAIL WIND

Berlin, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Dodging storm areas but aided by strong tail winds, the homeward bound German air liner Graf Zeppelin today was swinging over the mid-Atlantic somewhere along the northern steamship routes.

Although the huge ship apparently had been forced to abandon a direct, by eastern course toward central Europe in favor of a more northerly one which would carry her on the normal steamship lane from Cape Race, Newfoundland, to Fastnet, in southern Ireland, there was every indication that the passage was being made much faster than the trip to the United States which took 111 hours and 38 minutes.

Making Good Speed

In fact favoring tail winds seemed to be driving the great ship along at a fast clip so that part of the time she was averaging 70 miles an hour and sometimes German experts estimated, at 100 miles an hour. Every hope existed that the return

LOVE AFFAIR IN NASHVILLE ENDS
IN MAN'S DEATHHusband of Woman Who Was Party to Deal
Shot by Rival

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Walter L. Liggett, prominent grain merchant shot and killed Turney M. Cunningham, manager of a large downtown Nashville hotel last night, in an alley behind the Cunningham home. He admitted the shooting and was placed in jail on charges of murder and carrying a weapon.

In a signed statement to police a few hours later, Mrs. Cunningham said she had been meeting the grain merchant secretly almost a year and that she had gone to her garage last night to meet him "for a few minutes," after first refusing to do so.

Earl Kiger, a private detective, was the only known witness to the tragedy. He said he tried to get Liggett to leave the scene, but that the grain merchant declined to leave. The only statement of Liggett to police was that Cunningham fired first.

Cunningham was southern president of the Greater National Hotelmen's organization, and long prominent in his field. Liggett is identified with civic enterprises of Nashville.

Of Year's Standing

Mrs. Cunningham detailed events leading up to the shooting in answer to police questions, declaring that she began surreptitious visits with Liggett about Christmas a year ago.

Describing the events preceding the tragedy, Mrs. Cunningham declared Liggett called her twice yesterday afternoon, at 5:15 and 5:30 p. m., and insisted upon seeing her.

"I felt that I was being watched but finally consented to see him in the garage," she said.

On the way to the garage, in the rear of the home, Mrs. Cunningham declared, she thought she saw someone hiding nearby, and warned Liggett when she first saw him, and Liggett finally decided to leave. Mrs. Cunningham said she had scarcely reached her door when she heard a shot.

Returning she found her husband lying wounded on the ground, and Kiger standing by him, she said.

Fix Cause of Wreck

Washington, Oct. 30.—(AP)—A passenger train wreck on the Illinois Central at Mounds, Ill., August 6th, which caused seven deaths and the injury of 144 persons was reported to the Interstate Commerce Commission today as having been caused by damaged track.

The commission's inspectors concluded that a piece of cast iron pipe, accidentally dropped from a freight train, had been pounded against the rails by a passing train with sufficient force to throw the track out of alignment. The passenger train coming up later was derailed and wrecked.

No blame was specifically fixed by the report, though it was suggested that proper inspection of the freight train would have disclosed the loose pipe, and that the first engineer whose engine struck the pipe on the track might have made an earlier report and caused a quicker investigation.

Foreign exchanges opened steady, with Sterling cables again quoted just under $4.85.

The market turned spotty before mid-day when heavy profit-taking developed in such recent favorites as Radio, Western Union, Montgomery Ward and International Business Machines, which reacted 2 to 5 1/2 points. International Paper certificates broke 5 points to a new low at 50. American Locomotive, International Nickel and Manhattan Electrical Supply, up 3 to nearly 5 points, were prominent on the upside. Call money renewed at 7 1/2 per cent.

Wall Street Close

New York, Oct. 30.—(AP)—The rise in stock prices was resumed at the opening of today's market. R. H. Macy opened 3 points higher at 182 1/2, a new high record, and initial gains were again in brisk demand but oil was again in risk demand but early gains were small.

Steel shares began to move upward on predictions of an unusually favorable earnings report by the United States Steel Corporation after the close of the market. Ots Steel price preferred 1 1/2 and Vanadium 2 1/2 points.

Copper responded to the announcement of another increase in the price of export copper to 16 1/2 a pound, and a further increase in brass prices. U. S. Smelting & Refining crossed 60 to a new high record, and International Nickel was in brisk demand on the announcement of recapitalization plans.

Sinclair again assumed the leadership of the oil group, crossing 39 to a new high record on an enormous turn-over.

Kolster Radio responded to the announcement of an expansion program by moving to a new high record, but Radio Corporation common ran into some profit-taking at the opening. American Telephone was taken in large blocks at advancing prices.

Union Pacific assumed the leadership of the rail group, crossing 20 to the highest level in about fifteen years.

NORRIS SWALLOWS BITTER PILL WHEN HE BOLTS PARTY.

of Muscle Shoals that Mr. Hoover does today—a position diametrically opposed to the position taking by Governor Smith. Furthermore, Senator Robinson at that time gave at some length his view upon this subject just prior to the calling of the roll. (Congressional Record 68th Congress, Second Session, Volume 66, Part 2, Page 1450.)

Robinson's Views

"He said: 'With respect to the question of public ownership and private operation it seems to me that the sound policy justified by the history of our country is that the government should not engage in industries in competition with its citizens or with associations of citizens. If those enterprises may be approximated as successfully operated under private ownership and management and control x x x x My judgment and conclusion is that it is better for the government and better for the people to exercise the power of regulation than it is to assume or obtain ownership with all its consequent embarrassments, difficulties, inconveniences, and inefficiencies.'

"On January 9th Senator Norris delivered a very bitter attack upon the Democrats who had voted for the Underwood substitute. He read at length from the Democratic National Committee's publicity issued in 1924 denouncing those opposed to government ownership of Muscle Shoals.

He accused the 18 Democrats, who had voted for the Underwood substitute against government ownership, as traitors to their party. He charged they had entered into a disgraceful alliance with the Republican administration to serve the water power trust.

"In the course of his remarks Senator Norris made the charge that the deal whereby the 18 Democrats supported the Underwood substitute, which was agreeable to the Republican administration, had been consummated on board the Presidential yacht Mayflower.

"Senator Norris' accusations and bitterness with which he made the charges to collusion between the Democrats and the Republican administration aroused Senator Robinson to make a reply on January 9, in which he said in part:

Robinson's Reply

"The real underlying motive of the Senator from Nebraska is to commit this government to a policy of government operation of power plants. x x x x If you want government operation of the great power industry of this nation follow the leadership of the Senator from Nebraska. If, however, you believe that the success, the happiness, and the prosperity of all the millions of this Republic are dependent in large part upon the preservation of the principles upon which the Republic was founded, if you believe that government activity ought to be circumscribed, and ought not to be extended to spheres where private effort can be properly and profitably employed, you can not follow his leadership, and you ought not to permit the real problems involved in this legislation to be obscured by his brilliant powers of ridicule."

"One might substitute the name of Governor Smith in this paragraph for that of the Senator from Nebraska and not change another single word and it would fit perfectly the situation today. But the indictment of the whole principle of government ownership (as now being advocated by Governor Smith) by Senator Robinson in the following paragraphs was the most devastating utterance that was made upon the subject during the entire debate:

"If there be any one who thinks himself entitled to speak for the Democratic party who wants to commit this nation to the government ownership and operation of railroads, who wants to see all the so-called public utilities under public management, subject to political control, with all its inefficiencies and corruption, then follow the lead of the statesman who is going as fast as possible in that direction. He had the support of publications directing their power and influence to secure the adoption of legislation that would put the government into private business. I do not want to see that done. I have the power now, I would restrict the power of the government in industries ordinarily conducted by private enterprise, and I am conscientious in that, and no foolish and unfounded allusions to half truths can drive me from that rock. I stand upon it."

"If this issues were fully unmasked, if the American people knew that here in this body was being fought out today the question as to whether the Government shall send its agents out into avenues now trodden only by individuals, shall go into competition with the manhood and womanhood of this nation in the management of enterprises that are being successfully conducted under private management, you would realize then the united opposition to the leadership of the Senator from Nebraska."

"In my judgment, the people of this country do not want any more Federal government than is necessary. They do not want the rail-

know a mountain that stands all alone.
King of the vassal hills which round him keep
A waiting silence.
Night and morning heap
Their drifting mists of glory, zone on zone.
About his shoulders till the cold gray stone
Gives back the rosy splendor . . .
Oh lonely monarch! Solitary throne!
I wonder if he ever looks across
To the far ranges in their restless climb
Of summit after summit, longing so
For nearer comradeship, though gained by loss
To his own glory. To be strong, to sublimity Alone is that the pleasure mountains know?
—Mary O'Handley Jones, in New England Magazine of July, 1895.

Illinois Academy Fine Arts to Have Manual
Chicago, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Who's who and what's what in fine arts in Illinois will be delineated for the first time with the publication of a manual by the Illinois Academy of Fine Arts, it was announced today by Mary E. Aleshire, director of exhibitions for the academy.

Subject matter of the volume, said J. P. Cornelias, president of the academy, will be confined to "an historic record of artists and achievements in art in Illinois up to the present year." The three hundred page book will include twenty-four illustrations peculiarly fitted to the subject matter.

The task of gathering material for the publication has been assigned Mrs. Aleshire, and the editing will be done by Lena M. McCauley, editor of the Art World section of The Chicago Evening Post.

For inclusion in the publication Mrs. Aleshire is soliciting aid from every possible source. Much valuable material is expected to be obtained from Carolyn M. McIlvane, chairman of the academy's Historical Art committee, who is now engaged in the preparation of a history of Chicago for the Chicago World's Fair committee. Cooperation is sought of all persons who may have information the progress of art in the state during the early years of settlement.

Publication of the "Who's Who" is only a part of the "ambitious program of the Academy" for the coming year, Mrs. Aleshire said. It is also planned to publish a hand book annually, supplementing material in the manual, and covering all phases of fine arts as it is discovered in the state.

Other items on the program of the academy, the purpose of which is the promotion of arts in Illinois, includes the carrying forward of the series of long exhibitions of the work of Illinois artists; additions to the academy's permanent display at the state museum at Springfield; and cooperation with state departments in art education.

ONE ILLUSTRATED LECTURE THIS EVENING AT BAPTIST CHURCH
This evening, beginning at 7:30 p. m., the Rev. W. W. Marshall will give a most instructive and entertaining address at the Baptist church on Shakespeare and the Shakespearean country, illustrated by unusually fine lantern slides especially secured from England for this lecture. There will be no admittance fee, but a silver offering will be taken to defray the expenses of the evening. The public, especially those interested in Shakespeare are cordially invited to be present.

The disadvantage of the singleton lead or length in trumps is exemplified in the illustrations which follow. In each instance south's declaration is hearts and west who must lead, holds:

1.—Spades, A Q 10 X X X; hearts, K X X X; Diamonds X; clubs, X X X X.

West should not lead the singleton as he holds four trumps to an honor. He should lead his longest and strongest suit even though it is not a solid suit. His opening lead should be the spade ace. He should continue that suit on each occasion, endeavoring to weaken the declarer's strong trump hand.

2.—Spades, A Q X X X; hearts, K X X X; Diamonds, X; clubs, X X X X. West should not lead the singleton where he holds four small trumps with a strong side suit. He should lead the strong suit and endeavor to weaken the declarer's strong trump hand. West's best opening lead is the spade king.

3.—Spades, X X X X; hearts, X X X X; Diamonds, X; clubs, X X X X. West should lead the singleton. With four small trumps or less and a "Yarborough," the gamble may be successful.

Halloween Party Was Happy Affair
Miss Ethel Platts on Friday evening entertained most delightfully a company of twenty-four friends at a Halloween party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Drummond. Halloween decorations were very pretty and also unique. Black and orange were used as the colors. Autumn flowers graced the home. The guests were taken to the basement where a merry time was enjoyed, and where "hunts" interrupted things occasionally. Games were played and the entire evening proved one of pleasure to all attending. Delicious refreshments were served during the evening.

LINEN TOWEL HYGIENIC
The hygienic qualities of the pure flax towel recommends it to the housewife who takes sanitation seriously. For the delicate skin of the face it is essential, although the Turkish towel serves well enough for the bath. Being almost wholly germ proof and having absorbent qualities far in excess to any other textile, the linen towel thoroughly cleanses the face without scratching or enlarging the pores.

TRAINED EVENING WRAP
Paris (AP)—A dressmaker with a long list of royal ladies among his clientele presents a trained cloth of gold evening wrap. The train, several feet long, hangs like a panel from the shoulders. The front of the wrap reaches only a few inches below the knees. Collar and wide bell sleeves are bordered with sable and there is an upstanding collar of sable which frames the face.

ONE ILLUSTRATED LECTURE THIS EVENING AT BAPTIST CHURCH
This evening, beginning at 7:30 p. m., the Rev. W. W. Marshall will give a most instructive and entertaining address at the Baptist church on Shakespeare and the Shakespearean country, illustrated by unusually fine lantern slides especially secured from England for this lecture. There will be no admittance fee, but a silver offering will be taken to defray the expenses of the evening. The public, especially those interested in Shakespeare are cordially invited to be present.

LET'S VOTE FOR THE MILLION DOLLAR BOND ISSUE
If you vote yes for the million dollar bond issue we may have a game and fish preserve in Lee county. No direct tax. It is paid for by hunting and fishing licenses.

MENU for the FAMILY

BY SISTER MARY

BREAKFAST—Whole wheat cereal cooked with raisins, cream, creamed spinach on toast, apple sauce, cinnamon toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Tomatoes filled with eggs, prune bread, poor man's pudding, milk, tea.

DINNER—Cream of mushroom soup, croquettes, chicken croquettes, scalloped sweet potatoes and apples, lima beans, pumpkin pie, milk, coffee.

A cream soup is suggested for this dinner menu because the meat course is light. However the cream soup and pumpkin pie make up for the light croquettes and bring the meal into balance.

Raw carrot straws and crisp celery could be served to advantage.

Pumpkin Pie
One cup sifted pumpkin, 1/2 cup brown sugar, 1 tablespoon flour, 1/2 teaspoon ginger, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1 egg, 2 cups milk.

Pastry: 1/2 cup flour, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon baking powder, 4 tablespoons lard, 2 tablespoons cold water.

Mix and sift flour, salt and baking powder. Rub in lard with tips of fingers or pastry blender. Add water, cutting in with a knife. Roll into a sheet between 1/4 and 1/2 inch thick. Fit in pan and crimp edge.

The pumpkin should be cooked until dry before rubbing through colander. Add sugar, flour, salt, and spices to pumpkin and mix thoroughly. Beat egg well and add milk to first mixture. Mix well and turn into prepared pie pan. Bake in a hot oven for ten minutes, reduce heat and bake 50 minutes longer. About 375 degrees F. is a good temperature for long slow baking. ### The WOMAN'S DAY by ALLENE SMOOD

Romance is dead in this cross workaday world, we sometimes say and hear. Have you read of the Cinderella story of Isabel Stone, daughter of former governor of Pennsylvania, William A. Stone? Just a few weeks ago Isabel and her sister Peggy were discovered living in an abandoned barge anchored in a sedgey creek in upper New York. They explained that they were destitute, were trying to get a foothold in their respective arts of opera and sculpting, and that this life was necessary.

The other day Miss Stone's engagement was announced to a New York publisher, and at the same time she explained that she and her sister had quit life on the leaky barge because some supposed valuable real estate had boomed and she had exchanged it for a $30,000 house in lower New York.

Romantic enough, if true. That barge stunt did sound like two romantic girls' idea of a good time. Who wouldn't like living on a barge? Did you ever read Harry Benfield's "Bugs in the Night"? Bet the Stone girls had read it!

GET PAID FOR IT

Girls of marriageable age are being sold along the border in Northeast Shanting because of the famine, rumor has it. This region, it is explained, has had a shortage of marriageable girls since the famine of 1920-21 when its own women were sold off to other provinces because of the famine. Some of the girls bring $200; others no more than a dollar or so.

It's surprising to learn that there's any portion of the world where matrimony is still found sufficiently desirable and necessary to men so that they'll even buy their wives. In most parts of this modern world it's difficult enough for a girl to get a husband with no price tag attached to herself except her "keep."

MOTHERS OF SCOUTS

The three Boy Scouts who recently spent the summer in British East Africa with Martin Johnson, the explorer, have returned home with tales of how they kept the camp in fresh meat, shot lions, gazelles, "n" everything. Now they're all set to write a book.

A day in which boys of this tender age can go trekking off to blackest Africa is significant not so much of a change in boys and opportunities for them as in mothers. Can you imagine the mothers of young sons permitting this a generation ago?

Modern mothers have learned that children are created and reared for their own lives, not for parents' lives.

STAGE-STRUCK

One thousand girls, we are told, arrive in New York every day to go on the stage. And there are 300 experienced actresses available in that city for every possible part in any production. Figures of girls who go to Hollywood are probably even more imposing.

These scare figures have been given out again and again until it would seem by now that every girl must know the slimness of her chance. But still they go, and still, despite all the alarms, some of them get by and make good. There's something wonderful about youth, even in all its glorious follies.

DINNER CLUB TO MEET WEDNESDAY
The dinner club of the Ladies Aid Society of St. Paul's Lutheran church will hold an all day sewing and picnic dinner Wednesday, Oct. 31 at the home of Mrs. George Smith, 203 E. Boyd street. A good attendance is desired. The regular monthly meeting of the club will be held in the church Thursday afternoon, Nov. 1 at 2:30. The hostesses for the day include Mrs. William Schultz, Mrs. Herbert Scott, Mrs. Kittle Shaffer, Mrs. Jennie Slothower, Mrs. Austin Smith, Mrs. George Smith. All ladies of the church are invited.

Miss Volstead Weds Carl Lomen Tonight

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Miss Laura Ellen Volstead, daughter of Andrew J. Volstead of St. Paul, author of the prohibition enforcement act, will be married tonight to Carl J. Lomen, of Nome, Alaska, and New York City. He is the son of Judge and Mrs. G. J. Lomen, of Nome.

Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt of Washington, D. C., Assistant United States Attorney General, will be the bridesmaid. She was a college classmate of Miss Volstead's. Roy Squires of Chicago will attend Mr. Lomen as best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Lomen will leave for Washington after the ceremony. They will live in New York City.

POINTERS FOR PARENTS

I remember one room at school in which it was written in varnished chalk over the space reserved for arithmetic, "There Is No Such Word As Can't!"

We were having denominate numbers and fractions and the combinations certainly needed the fortifying maxim that rose above it—all that and more. But even then it failed, for I have a distinct recollection of laying my head down on my desk one fine day and giving way to shameless tears. What ever the colored chalk had to say about it, it was wrong. For I couldn't!

I had passed examinations in algebra and geometry years later before I discovered what denominate numbers meant. No one had ever taken the trouble to say to me:

"If I say 'five,' it's a number, but if I say 'five apples,' that's a denominate number."

All that struck my poor addled brain was that I was having a lot of problems with a long, horrible name and with that attitude I developed a complex and mental confusion that only increased as time wore on.

I remember that teacher well. I adored her. Her name was Miss Little and she was pretty and she had us out for her house at a picnic. There was a young man there whom she called John and I remember being very resentful of "John." Whether she eventually married him or not I do not know. Very likely she did, however, or someone else and has forgotten all about "There Is No Such Word As Can't" and denominate numbers and fractions.

But I remember. And I wish she had mentioned the apples.

I often wonder how much good teaching is going to waste because some simple, clear explanation of work at the beginning of a term has not been made.

One time I heard a teacher call on a boy to parse a certain noun. He got up started lamely several times, and stopped in confusion. The teacher seemed surprised.

"Can't you parse that? It's very easy," she said kindly.

"No, I can't!" He set down. Instantly fifty hands went up.

I knew very well that the child hadn't an idea what parsing meant. There had been some mental confusion at the beginning without doubt. He may have been away the first day, but at any rate there never had been conveyed to his perplexed mind the simple statement, "Parsing is telling the noun's story."

Parents can often find these little keys that unlock the great unknown. If busy teachers cannot put their fingers on the trouble. So much rests on a clear beginning.

Then there won't be any such word as "can't."

Plan to Show Girls How to Make Up

Chicago, Oct. 30.—(AP)—To the three "R's" there has been added a fourth, and it is now "reading, writing, 'rithmetic and rouging." The course in the art of make-up has been installed in Chicago Continuation schools with the approval of the Board of Education. "Since the girls simply will make up," explained Miss Nellie Ryan, principal of the North Side Continuation schools, "we have decided to try to initiate them in the correct and artistic application of make-up." The first lesson was given yesterday and it started off with soap and water. There was a facial massage, an ice rub, the laying of a cold cream powder base, and then instruction on how properly to apply the powder. Use of the lipstick was discouraged but rouge was sanctioned. More than 9,000 working girls and boys are enrolled in the continuation schools.

FAILURE'S ROUGH HANDS.

"Although I have perhaps achieved more than the average person at my age, still what I have achieved is so very far from what I wanted to achieve that life is not worth living."

After writing a note containing these words, Henry Druckliev, middle-aged New York real estate broker, killed himself by sending a revolver bullet into his head.

It is tragic to reach middle age and find that one's dearest ambitions can never be realized; tragic enough to make many people besides this real estate broker think of suicide. Yet it is the inevitable lot of all of us. Our reach, invariably, exceeds our grasp. We can never quite do the things we want to do.

This inevitable disparity between the desires of the spirit and the capabilities of the flesh is at once a curse and a blessing; a curse because it brings suffering and tragedy, and a blessing because it is the mainspring of all human progress.

Never a young man began life without high hopes. A boy in his teens looks ahead to certain triumphs. He will be a better man than his father; the tumbling blocks that trip others will not trip him. He feels his own expanding powers and is sure that they will carry him through to any goal he seeks.

In the fullness of time the boy becomes a man and finds it isn't so easy as he imagined. Life is more complicated than he thought. One by one he sees his towering air castles dissolve in the hard light of every day experience, and at last, no matter how successful he has become, he has to admit that he has not gone as far as he once expected to.

This is always a painful awakening, made endurable only by the fact that it comes very gradually. Yet most of us survive it. The men who commit suicide are the exception. We learn to discount the notes drawn by our high expectations.

But always, fortunately, we remember what we dreamed. Always we have in the back of our minds a picture of what life might be like if we had not failed. We are persuaded, thereby, that the world is potentially a better place than we have made it, and that we ourselves are, at bottom, better men than we seem. We must be; cannot we dream gorgeous dreams?

So, in the midst of our disillusion, there remains a spark of deathless optimism that persists quite irrationally. It makes us receptive; and now and then, when some man greater than the rest of us comes along, shows us a great ideal and demands that we follow it and stop worshipping Baal, we obey. And when it is over, although we have not followed as far as we intended, we find that we have, after all, made progress.

AVIATION AS A VOCATION.

A young man planning to take up aviation as a profession would do well to heed the most recent bulletin of the Daniel Guggenheim Fund for the Promotion of Aeronautics.

This organization recently questioned leading air transport companies about new pilots. The majority of the replies received stated that experience has shown that the best pilots come from the regular army and navy flying schools. Commercial air schools, it was said, do not quite offer pilots the variety of experience needed to make first-class flyers.

It was added, however, that as aviation grows the commercial schools undoubtedly will increase in effectiveness. One interesting comment was that barnstorming by the individual pilot after graduation from flying school is an excellent means of training. It will be recalled that Lindbergh had a good dose of that.

Senator Curtis, Republican candidate for Vice President, is performing yeoman service in his tour around the country. Whenever he speaks he says something, and he does not waste words. He has the facts and presents them in man fashion.

Sentiment is never stopped by an invisible line anywhere, and when the Hoover sentiment, with its ever increasing momentum, sweeps into New York City, there will not be a hair left on the Tammany tiger's back.

Herbert Hoover was born and raised in the country and knows something about the farm. Alfred E. Smith was born in New York City and knows nothing about the farm. And so it seems settled that the men and women on the farm know to whom to look for solution of their problems.

Vote for Hoover and continue prosperity.

THE TINYMITES
STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNOCK

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

"Well, well," the burly captain cried. "Now that the whale's dropped over the side, and all you little lads are safe, please tell me who you are. I know that you're called Tinymites, and that you're out here to see the sights, but that's not all there is to know about you lads, by far."

"The Tinymites all thought a while. Then Scouty's face broke in a smile. 'I fear there's nothing else to tell about our bunch,' said he. 'We merely came upon this earth to hike for all that we were worth. When we're on the go we are as happy as can be.'"

"What, don't you ever work a bit?" the captain asked. "Do you just sit around and take things easy? Why I'm quite ashamed of you. You all look healthy, also strong, and that is why I think it wrong for you to loaf. I'm sure I'll find some things for you to do."

"Oh, my, we wouldn't mind at all," said Copy. "When you want us call and we will come a-running."

As Others See It

BOTH CANNOT BE RIGHT
Albany (N. Y.) Knickerbocker Press.

National prosperity, the paramount issue of the presidential campaign, has arisen as a bugaboo to plague the Democratic party.

The Democrats, by challenging the existence of prosperity, made it the dominant issue of the campaign. Now they find themselves in a quandary.

Governor Smith in his speech of acceptance denied emphatically that the country is well off. He painted a gloomy picture of 4,000,000 men out of work. He declared that the Republican claims for government economy are as baseless as their prosperity statements.

What is wrong with this picture? The chief trouble lies in the fact that everybody disagrees with the governor. Not least among the dissenters is the Democratic National Committee, which has been hit with a belated realization that Herbert Hoover is going to be elected President because the country is prosperous and wants to continue so.

So the Democratic National Committee has set out to correct the mistake of Governor Smith and show that the country really is prosperous and that Woodrow Wilson and John J. Raskob of the General Motors Company, national committee chairman, made it so.

Governor Smith and the Democratic National Committee both can't be right.

TRIED AND TRUE
Buffalo Evening News

This is a campaign when the advisability of continuing the Republican Party in power is less distinctly challenged than ever before in any declarations by the platform of the opposition or by its candidate.

Every citizen must recognize that the Republican is the cohesive party. While it includes very diverse elements, as must be the case in any organization deriving power from 15,000,000 voters, there are common motives and principles which run through all of these and hold them together.

One most important point is that Republicans, apparently without exception, believe that prosperity of the people is dependent, in great measure, on the policies of the government; that correct reasoning by those charged with guarding the common interests of the populace is exhibited in material welfare and that unsound conceptions are reflected in harder times.

All citizens, whether supporters or critics, know substantially the lines upon which government would be conducted under the Republican Party. Any very wide departure from the basic unifying principles which

Blackheads Go Quick By This Simple Method

This is a simple method that makes blackheads go as if by magic. Get two ounces of Calomel powder from your drug store, sprinkle a little on a hot wet cloth, rub briskly over the affected parts, and in two minutes, you will find every blackhead dissolved away entirely.

HALLOWEEN MEMORIES
Do you ever reflect o'er those years which have flown,
As October days draw to a close,
And think of the Halloween pranks you had sown
When the town was enjoying repose?

When weird witches would ride their broomsticks through the air,
While black bats would so silently swoot,
And great, fluffy owls with large eyes which would stare
With a terrible gleam when they'd hoot?

Now, there isn't a man who was ever a boy,
Or a woman once vibrant in youth,
Who would not rejoice to again have the joy
Of the fun at a Halloween booth.

Jack-o-lanterns were lighted, and garbed with a sheet
What a ghostly procession was seen,
As corn on the windows would rattle like sleet,
Waking all from their slumbers serene.

The old tick-tacks were hung quietly on the front doors,
And so suddenly slapped with a bang,
That the old folks within were aroused from their snores
As they thought it a Jesse James gang.

All the alleys were robbed of their contents. Main street
Was littered with disorderly groups of boxes, machinery and wagons complete, Empty barrels and old chicken coops.

In those days when the buggies were widely in use
There were always a dozen in sight,
When witches and goblins and ghosts were all loose
On a dreadful dark Halloween night.

Draped in barbed-wire the street was entangled so queer,
While a row of freight cars barred the way;
A clever distillery with sign "Lager Beer"
Greeted Lager, the shoe-man, next day.

Hayracks, gates, steps and ladders, and things I can't tell
Would yield to the power of the ghosts;
The drayman's old horse which we all knew so well
Was coaxed from his stall by the hosts.

'Twas a fearful experience just to endure
An old-fashioned, active Halloween;
But those were the nights, if repeated, I'm sure Would make a "reel" thrill for the "screen."

—Bela R. Holderman, Franklin Grove.

HER RECIPE
By Mrs. Florabelle Throop

Beside the molding board she stands
And deftly sifts the flour,
And quickly moves her pretty hands
To mix the sweet and sour;
While he, enlisted her recruit,
Sits gay and smiling by,
And pares and cores the ruddy fruit
To make an apple pie.

Last May they lingered side by side
Beneath the blossomed bough;
And picked the fruit at autumn-tide
All rime and rosy now;
And gathering apples he and she
A task so blissful found,
That orchard tree, it needs must be
A graft from Eden ground?

Now when the pie is passed around,
What time the good folk dine,
And all agree they never found
A recipe so fine,
Do any guess a reason why?—
Ah, 'twas no common spice!
The flavor of that apple pie
Came straight from Paradise!

ROCHELLE NEWS

Rochelle-Rochelle Post No. 403, American Legion, as part of their program on Americanism will make a determined non-partisan attempt to get out the vote on election day, November 6th. Legionnaires wearing Legion caps will be at every polling place distributing tags reading: "I have voted, have you?" with a perforated stub: "American Legion 1 vote." A contest is being arranged for any and all pupils of the graded schools to collect these stubs, winners to receive $15 in prizes either in cash or merchandise in the sums of 1st, $5.00; 2nd, $4.00; 3rd, $3.00; 4th, $2.00; 5th, $1.00. Tags should be turned in for credit at the American Legion club rooms at 7:30 on election night. The assignment of Legionnaires to the polling places will be as follows: 1st ward—Harold Stevens, 6:00-9:00 a. m.; Fred Rush, 9:00 a. m.-12:00 noon; Robert Dail, 12:00-5:00 p. m. 2nd ward—John Manning, 6:00-10:00 a. m.; John W. Nelson, 10:00-1:00 p. m. 3rd ward—C. A. Anderson, 6:00-10:00 a. m.; Clarence Oakes, 10:00-1:00 p. m. 4th ward—Charles Hanson, 1:00-3:00 p. m.; Fred Swingley, 3:00-5:00 p. m.

A Latin Club has been organized at Rochelle township high school. One of the requirements is that the student must have an average of 85 to be eligible. A committee has been appointed, consisting of Marjorie Krom and Marie Gittleton, to take charge of the first meeting, which is to be held on Nov. 5th. Officers elected are: Consuls—Alberta Wadey, Dan Sullivan; Scriba—Martha Wiley; Quæstor—Dale Wright.

George W. Simons, Jr., graduate of Rochelle high school in 1908, and a son-in-law of George W. Guest, has opened up an office as a consulting engineer in the Hildebrandt Building, Jacksonville, Florida. Mr. Simons was graduated from Beloit College in the Class of 1912 and later from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He is a member of American Society Civil Engineers; Fellow American Public Health Association; Member American Society Municipal Improvements; Member American Water Works Association; Past President Florida Engineering Society; 1916-25 Chief Engineer Florida State Board of Health. His municipal engineering specialties are: city planning, zoning and land platting, pavements, special assessments, water supply and purification, sewerage and sewage treatment, mosquito control, refuse collection and disposal, swimming pool design, sanitary, health, industrial and economic surveys, institutional utilities.

Misses Mary Moley and Madge Clinette of the Geo. D. Whitcomb Company office force are enjoying vacations.

Misses Frances Pelvey and Veryl Edwards spent Saturday in Chicago.

John Prestagard of Mt. Morris was elected commander; and Charles Hanson, vice commander of the Ogle County Legion at the annual meeting held at Polo, Thursday evening. Aerial bombs have been ordered by the local Legion for Armistice Day. The post has also voted to buy some flags of the allied nations to be used in the ceremonies.

Armistice Day is to be not only fittingly observed here by the Legion Post, but in a more extensive manner than heretofore. Commander John P. Manning, assisted by Adjutant John W. Nelson and other officers, have arranged the following fine program:

10:30—Assembly.
10:55—Firing of bombs and guns.
11:00—Cease firing.
11:01—Invocation.
11:05—Music.
11:11—Reading.

11:15—Advance of allied flags to position of honor. (This advance will be accompanied by a medley of the national airs of the allied countries. As each flag is put in place, the national air of its country will be played.)
11:25—Music.

11:35—Address: "Armistice Day—Its Significance." (Speaker to be announced.)
12:00—National anthem.

Afternoon—Sports events (football game).

Mrs. Elizabeth Hathaway, Frank Hathaway, Kate Hathaway, and Mrs. Grace Thian left Thursday night for Los Angeles, California.

Rochelle's second annual corn show will be held in the high school auditorium on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, November 22, 23 and 24. The show is sponsored by the Ogle county farm bureau, the Business Men's association, the high school agriculture class with Frank Zimmerman as instructor, and public spirited citizens.

Cash prizes in gold and ribbons will again be offered to the winners and the exhibits will also include domestic science displays. The grade schools in and surrounding Rochelle are entering judging teams of three pupils from which the best team will be selected and awarded a silver cup. To secure permanent possession the cup must be won by one team three times.

The Geo. D. Whitcomb Company shipped a carload of gasoline locomotives, consisting of seven machines, weighing 30 tons to Kobe and Yokohama, Japan for clearance through Seattle, Washington, Wednesday.

Mrs. William T. Hayes and Mrs. Harold Stevens have issued invitations to an evening bridge party to be held at the home of Mrs. Stevens next Wednesday.

At the stag dinner and annual meeting of Rock River Golf Club at Oregon the present officers and board of directors were all re-elected. The officers are: John H. Coulter, Oregon, president; H. J. Kalbe, Mt. Morris, vice president; John P. Putnam, secretary and John B. Hayes, of Rochelle, treasurer. Directors—J. L. Rice, Geo. E. Stocking, J. B. Hayes, Harvey J. Kable, C. Earl Allen, Markus A. Hirsch, John H. Coulter, John P. Putnam, Joseph F. Reed, Charles G. Gilbert, W. J. Emerson, A. S. Gale, Herman Hallowich, Harold S. Seas, Ruth Hanna McCormick.

Urge Bond Issue for Chicago Nurses Home

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Apprehensive of the "public disfavor" for bond issues in general, the directors of the Cook County Hospital have urged upon voters "special attention" to the proposed $2,800,000 bond issue for a new nurses home for the institution as an "urgent and particularly worthy cause."

It was pointed out today by Frederick Tice, chief of staff at the hospital that at the beginning of the year 1930 nurses of the hospital will be without quarters, due to the affiliation of the Illinois Training School for nurses and the University of Chicago, which becomes effective at that time.

Before this affiliation becomes effective, Tice said, it will be necessary for the Cook county hospital to organize a new training school and provide a nurses home of a capacity sufficient to meet the institution's needs. "We feel," he said, "that if the public were made to realize the facts, the success of the proposed bond issue would be assured. If it fails, there cannot help but be a direct untoward effect on the care of the sick in Cook County Hospital."

Marshall and Putnam Counties May Merge

Lacon, Ill., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Consolidation of Marshall and Putnam counties is a special issue to be voted on in the two counties November 6.

A petition to merge then, and asking that the question be submitted to the electorate at the November election, has been signed by two hundred men and women in the counties and presented to the two groups of county supervisors.

The principal reason advocated for the merger is the reduced expense in maintaining but one county seat and set of officers. Putnam is a small county, it is pointed out, and could easily be added to Marshall without making the new county too unwieldy. There would be a large saving in expenses, as one set of county officers could do the work for both counties.

Putnam residents want that name retained for the proposed new county. They say they are willing for the county seat to remain at Lacon, eliminating Hennepin as a county seat city, and thus preserving an even balance in the consolidation.

ILLINOIS QUIZZES

Q—I read in some newspaper recently that there are perhaps a thousand deer still running at large in a wild state in Illinois. I repeated this in talking to some sportsmen and they gave me the laugh. Can you tell me how many deer there are in Illinois and where they are?

C. F. Rockford.
A—The story was printed. You are correct that far. But as to the thousand deer. No. About fifteen years ago several deer escaped from the grounds of the insane hospital at Bartonville, just south of Peoria. They took refuge in some wild river bottom nearby and have thrived. Today they run in two herds totalling in all about fifty head. So far there are records of two of them having been killed. In each case the state department of conservation prosecuted the killers vigorously. Gus H. Radebaugh, director of the department, says he knows of no other deer outside of inclosures in Illinois.

Holstein Produced 14 Tons of Milk in Year

Chicago, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Almost 14 tons of milk, amounting to 1,250 pounds of butter, was the annual production of Imperial Mead Juliana De Kol, prize Holstein-Friesian cow owned by the University of California, last year, the Holstein-Friesian Association of America announced today.

During a 365 day test, the cow produced 27,674 pounds of milk containing 1,000.56 pounds of butterfat, which is the equivalent of 1,250.70 pounds of butter.

TURN THE PAGE

Turn the PAGE into a BOOK. It sounds a little hard, but it's comparatively simple in letter golf. Par is six and one solution is on page 11.

P	A	G	E
B	O	O	K

THE RULES

1—The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in par, a given number of strokes. Thus to change COW to HEN, in three strokes, COW, HOW, HEW, HEN.

2—You can change only one letter at a time.

3—You must have a complete word of common usage, for each pump along words and abbreviations don't count.

4—The order of letters cannot be changed.

One solution is printed on page 11.

West Frankfort Boy Eluded Kidnapers

West Frankfort, Ill., Oct. 29.—(AP)—Neil Thurmond, 11, son of O. A. Thurmond, Johnston City jeweler, escaped from an unidentified abductor for Sunday night after he had been held captive in a box car almost two hours.

The boy was kidnapped as he waited near the family automobile for his parents to come from church where they had attended services. He was forced into a box car and warned at the point of a gun to make no outcry while his abductor searched for a car on which the door could be closed.

The boy got away and appeared at his father's store just after a county wide search had been instituted. No motive has been advanced for the kidnaping.

STATE HUSKING CONTEST FRIDAY
ON GALVA FARM

Fifteen of Best Corn Pickers to Compete for State Title

Galesburg, Ill.—(AP)—Corn picking, once a monotonous farm task, becomes a sport with much of the glamor of a real athletic meet, as contests start this week to determine county champions to go to the state husking bee near Galva on November 2.

Proponents of the hook and peg have already settled matters in some counties. Hancock was one of the first to hold its contest. George Kramm was the winner there, picking 28.39 bushels in the 80 minutes of the contest. He was the winner in Hancock in the 1926 and 1927 contests, and is expected because of his experience, to be a strong contender for the state title.

Some thirty contests are to be held in as many counties to select representatives for the state bee. Not all of them will compete at Galva, however, as not more than 15 can be handled at one time. So the 15 with the best records in the preliminary contests will be chosen as the ones to exhibit their skill in the larger meet.

Saturday is a big day for county contests in this section. The Knox county meet will be held then on the Emery Daily farm near Yates City.
Warren county's shuckers will fight
it out on the same day at the Asa Young farm. McDonough county pickers will be trying their skill at the same time on the B. H. Alexander farm near Bushnell. Saturday has also been chosen for the Stark county meet on the James E. Armstrong farm near Elmira. The Stark bee will attract more interest than the others today because Elmer Williams, the wooden peg husker who set a world record three years ago, will be a contestant. His 35.8 bushels in 80 minutes in the national contest in Mercer county has never been equalled, not even by Mr. Williams himself.

Henry county's meet which was set for earlier in the week, was postponed until Saturday because of the bad weather. It will be held on the Beal farm near Woodhull. Harold Holmes, Illinois champion last year, lives in Henry county but will not be obliged to defend his title in the coming meet as he is privileged to enter the state contest without competition.

The winner of the contest at Galva
November 2 will represent Illinois in the national husking bee to be held in Benton county, Indiana, the week of November 11. Iowa, Illinois, Nebraska, Minnesota, Kansas, Indiana and Missouri will send representatives there to fight for the national championship.

Husking contests were inaugurated
in 1925 by a number of farm magazines, working in conjunction with farm bureaus. State winners receive prizes ranging from $100 and a gold medal for first to $10 for fifth. Their expenses are paid by the magazines to the national meet where there is one prize of $100.

Weekly Review of Agriculture
by Farmers Paper

Chicago —(AP)—Hog prices are nearing the bottom for the fall and winter said the weekly agricultural review by Prairie Farmer today. The Chicago average price has dropped to $9.35 or about $1.50 over the extreme low point of last winter. The level at which the market will stabilize depends on where speculative demand for hog products will enter. At present domestic demand for hog products is broad, active takings of dry salt meats by the South being a recent feature.

The decline in steer prices has been resumed. Following the post war high point reached in the week ending September 15, steer prices declined for three weeks rallied for one week and have resumed the decline, dropping to a new low point for the movement. Just where the decline will be permanently halted is conjectural. Somewhat lower prices are likely in the next 30 days, although most of the distance to solid footing has probably been traversed.

The rapid accumulation of wheat supplies in North America has been an outstanding feature in recent weeks. The total visible supply in the United States and Canada is 169 million bushels compared with 107 million at this time last year.
It has been gaining at the rate of six to seven million bushels a week,
so that it will probably be some time before the accumulation ceases. Conditions appear to be shaping for a dragging market, this fall, but if speculative holders are not disturbed
by the failure of the market to advance, no serious decline is probable.

Small stocks of old corn are holding up cash prices, but the seasonal downward readjustment probably will occur during the next two months.
The visible supply is down to 3.3 million bushels as compared to 193 million bushels a year ago. Receipts of new corn are increasing, and a fairly liberal early movement is probable as the quality is high and prices attractive.

There is less alfalfa seed than last year, a reduction of more than 30 per cent in production being reported. Rains at blossoming time and insects and frost in September took a heavy toll of the crop. Prices to growers are averaging higher than a year ago.

Higher prices for hay have failed to attract heavier offerings, while demand is stimulated by cooler weather and shorter pastures. Prices remain firm, and very leafy extra fancy alfalfa is still selling at a substantial premium over ordinary grades. The weather recently has not been favorable to fall sown alfalfa or to old stands.

Egg prices are advancing due to a sharp decline in receipts, but are averaging about a nickel a dozen higher than a year ago. Dealers are anxious to get fancy, new-laid eggs and as supplies continue to fall off during the next month, values will advance further.

The Farm Week
in Washington

BY FRANK I. WELLER
(Associated Press Farm Editor)

Washington—(AP)—In November the department of agriculture will announce the new spread of the European corn borer. The report will be significant in two ways. It will show how far the pest advanced toward the corn belt this year, after millions of dollars have been spent to stop it; and give the department's views on whether attempts at extermination are efficacious. The normal rate of spread has been 20 to 20 miles a year. The November report will announce the borer 30 miles nearer his goal than in 1927.

In view of the fact that the same advance was made by the corn borer this year as was made before the $10,000,000 campaign authorized by congress. Dr. W. H. Larrimer, in charge of corn borer control work for the government, says
"it has become apparent that the natural spread of the pest cannot be stopped. The corn belt is going to get it."

However, out of the struggle have come practical methods of control. Farmers have learned how to clean up their farms in such a way no hibernation place is left for the borers. The practice has spread to Canada where the corn acreage, which in some sections has been reduced 65 per cent, was increased 75 percent this year and gave a good mature crop on the same fields where complete destruction was experienced three years ago.

Entomologists, Larrimer says, never believed at any time that the borer could be stopped, at least under present methods. The same theory was adopted at a recent meeting of entomological societies in Toledo, Ohio. Its resolutions committee, composed of entomologists, agricultural engineers, economists, and agrarians, recommended that no more large appropriations be made to fight the pest. The resolution is considered particularly important in view of congress, at its December session, being called upon to appropriate the second $10,000,000 borer-control fund authorized before adjournment last May.

Larrimer insists such an appropriation would be a "useless waste of money" since it is doubtful if the advance of the borer even can be momentarily retarded. The $10,000-000 campaign concluded this year, he said, has given the farmer knowledge of about all he can do to protect his crop. As a result, the borer will not necessarily make the profitable production of corn impossible in infested areas. It is a grave menace, in that its presence will make it more expensive for farmers to grow corn.

According to the report to be published in November, when control measures may be most effectively practiced, about two townships deep, all along the ragged boundary of infestation from south central Ohio to the lower edge of Lake Michigan in Indiana.

Theater Held Up

Washington, Oct. 29—(AP)—A bandit today walked into the box office of the Earle Theater in downtown Washington, held up the manager and assistant manager and walked out into the crowded street with $4,000.

Snow in Nebraska

Kansas City, Oct. 29—(AP)—Snow fell in north central Kansas and central Nebraska today, piling up to a depth of six inches in a few sections.

WELL-TREATED SOIL NEVER TO CEASE YIELDING

Experts Say Such will Never Wear Out if Well Cared For

Washington—(AP)—Thirty million acres of idle crop land, much of it abandoned on the theory that it is "worn out," some day will be brought back into active production, soil scientists say. It is their contention that, except in the popular conception, land does not wear out and that with intelligent management a field may be seeded to the same crop each consecutive year indefinitely without diminishing the yield.

The most notable example is recorded at Rothamsted Experiment Station in England, where the eighty-sixth consecutive crop of wheat was produced this year on the same land. The average yield for the entire period has been 35 bushels to the acre, maintained, officials say, by returning to the soil
the same elements of plant food in the same quantity they were taken up by each crop. The experiment, oldest of its kind in the world, was started in 1843, when the station was founded by Sir John Lawes, the originator of commercial fertilizer. England had an exceptionally good growing season this year, and the wheat at Rothamsted stood shoulder high at cutting.

Of more significance to American agriculture, the forty-eighth consecutive crop of wheat on the same land was produced this year at Pennsylvania State College. To the United States what the Rotham-sted test is to England the Pennsylvania is the oldest in this country. Like Rothamsted, it is considered to prove that high yields can be maintained by intelligent use of plant food and good farming practice. Wheat there averaged 23 bushels to the acre as against 12 bushels to the acre on a neighboring plot, growth with no attention to soil requirements.

In the various phases of soil fertilization, the treasure house of the centuries, and conservation Europe is the treasure house of the centuries.
It has shown the way, on soils that have been under cultivation for more than 2,000 years, to the upbuilding of a superior fertility as indicated by crop yields far surpassing those of the practically virgin land in this country.

Soil is not allowed to "wear out"
in Europe, where the needs of the population are pressing agriculture production to the limit. The population here, economists say, has not caught up with farm production, a situation blamed for much of the tendency to abandon land when its fertility has been mined and yields grow short.

The census of 1920 showed 956 million acres of land in farm in this country. By 1925 it had dropped to 924 million acres, or an abandonment of 32 million acres. During the same period there was a net abandonment of 7,703 farms.

It is admitted that various influences are responsible for the abandonment, but the soil scientist maintains that had the land been highly productive less of it would have been left idle.

Valuable Hints
for Farmers and Their Good Wives

To obtain even fertilization of the range by cattle and to prevent overgrazing in parts near the water, watering places in level country should be not more than five miles apart.

Poultry mites do not like carbol-cum. If these pests are in the poultry house paint carbolcum on the roosts, nests and the places where the roosts come in contact with the dropping boards and rear of the house.
One application usually is enough for a whole year.

Ewes to be bred at this time of year should be given plenty of abundant pastures, such as timothy, bluegrass or rape. Pumpkins strewn over the field are excellent as a feed.

Every acre of tilled land not in legumes during the winter should be in a small grain cover crop, except where fall plowing is advisable. For emergency cover crops and pasture there are no more useful plants than the small grains, which take up the available nitrate that otherwise would be lost, prevent washing and make excellent grazing in favorable weather.

Young heifers wintered at the U. S.
Range Livestock Experiment Station, Miles City, Mont., on blue-joint hay for 84 days showed a gain of 65 pounds with a daily ration of 20 pounds of hay. Another lot required 23 pounds of alfalfa hay for the same period to make a gain of 51 pounds.

As a soil improver a winter legume generally is more valuable than a summer legume. It occupies the ground at a time when the money crop is not grown and is turned under at a time to permit the most favorable utilization of nitrogen by the money crop. Vetches, Australian winter peas, bur clover and crimson clover are good crops for this purpose in the south.

Carbon disulphide is a good insecticide for fumigating stored grains, cowpeas, beans and peas. Amounts up to 20 pounds of the liquid material per 1000 cubic feet are necessary to kill grain insects in ordinary rooms where the walls and floors are not especially tight. Since the vapor of carbon disulphide is highly inflammable, care should be taken to keep fire in any form from the room that is being fumigated.

101 BU. OF CORN
TO ACRE RECORD OF AMBOY YOUTH

Ray Dewey's Experiment Proved Unusually Successful

Ray Dewey, member of the agricultural class of the Amboy township high school, is very proud of an experiment which he conducted this past summer in the raising of yellow dent corn. He planted a nine acre tract last spring, placing from three to five kernels in each hill. The ground had been treated with a commercial fertilizer and the young student took care of his experimental acreage throughout the season.

When the corn was picked recently and weighed, the nine acre tract was found to have produced a yield of 101 bushels to the acre by weight, of a very high grade of yellow dent corn.

Agricultural experts claim that by planting three productive kernels to the hill, the hills being a specified length apart, and each stalk producing one ear of a standard size of ten and one-half inches in length, that production of 110 bushels can be derived. The experiment of the Amboy high school student falls little short of meeting this test.

Three Sentenced to Die in Chair Dec. 15

Waukegan, Ill., Oct. 29—(AP)— Three men were sentenced to the electric chair and two others were given prison terms by Judge C. C.
Edwards in Circuit Court here Monday for the murder of William Beck, a farmer living eight miles west of here, last May 16.

Claud Clark, 41, and John Brown, 32, Chicago Negroes, and Dominick
Bresette, 33 an Indian from the La Pointe Reservation in Wisconsin, were doomed to die in the electric chair December 15. They were convicted of slaying the farmer while attempting to rob him of bonds they believed to be worth $15,000.

Arthur Doane, 21, and Harold Mar-ter, 20, who acted as chauffeurs for the trio of slayers were sentenced to 1 to 14 years imprisonment on manslaughter charges.

Trained Gander to be Exhibit Feature

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 30—(AP)—
A trained gander, the property of Gerald Duncan of Columbus Junction, Iowa, waterfowl breeder, exhibitor and judge, will be one of the features of the American Waterfowl Breeders Association meeting here
November 5.

Sending in his list of 200 entries, Duncan said he will bring along his big pet water gander, an outstanding specimen of the Brown Chinese variety. He puts this barnyard clown through a repertoire of tricks to entertain the public. This entertaining bird has escaped the axe through many seasons because of his historic talent. His stunts have been recorded in the movies, and he has appeared before some of the nation's greatest poultry breeders' gatherings.

In addition to the competitive display of domestic waterfowl of every recognized variety, the exposition will present many other features to stimulate the interest in duck and goose production. Some nationally known authorities will speak on various phases of waterfowl farming, and will tell of plans for improvement in the marketing of birds.

PAPER TELLS OF DEATH OF HARVEY
HATCH OCTOBER 18

Cancer Took Life of Former Dixon Man in Michigan

The Marquette, Mich. Mining Journal of Oct. 19, contained the following account of the death of Harvey B.
Hatch, former Dixon boy and a son of Dixon pioneer:

Harvey B. Hatch, 65 years old, deputy clerk of the United States district court and an attorney-at-law
here for many years, died yesterday morning about 10 o'clock at the home of his son, Perry B. Hatch, 336 East Crescent street, after a long illness.
Mr. Hatch's death was caused by cancer of the bladder. He had been in poor health for more than a year and for the last four or five months he was unable to leave his bed. He was a hospital patient for some time. His condition became critical a few days ago and his death was not unexpected.

Lived Here 45 Years
Harvey B. Hatch was born in Dixon, Ill., and came to Marquette about 45 years ago after teaching school for a short time in Dixon. He began the study of law in Marquette
in the law offices of the late Dan H.
Ball, with whom he was associated for 30 years. He was admitted to the bar here.

Mr. Hatch had been deputy clerk of the United States district court for a long period, succeeding the late Francis M. Moore in that position. His failing health forced him to give up his work about five months ago.

He leaves his widow, Mary R.
Hatch, one daughter, Ora May Doan, of Sombra, Ont., who will arrive in Marquette today, and two sons,
Francis A. Hatch, and Perry B. Hatch of this city. He also leaves three brothers, Louis of East Palatka, Fla., Charles of San Francisco, Calif., and Fred of Dixon, Ill.

Was Prominent Mason
Mr. Hatch had been an active member of Masonic bodies for more than 25 years and was well known in Masonic circles throughout the upper peninsula. He was a member of all branches of the Masonic order, including the Blue Lodge, Chapter, Council, Commandery, Consistory, Shrine and Order of Eastern Star.

He served as presiding officer of the Marquette chapter, R. A. M., and of the Lake Superior Commandery, Knights Templar. He held several of the offices in the Francis M.
Moore consistory and Scottish Rite bodies and for years took prominent roles in the ceremonies and degree work of those bodies.

Mr. Hatch also was an old and active member of the First Methodist Episcopal church in Marquette. For many years he was a trustee and custodian of that church and years ago he served as a lay preacher, visiting Methodist parishes in several nearby towns.

Masonic Funeral
The body will be taken to the home of Perry B. Hatch, 336 East Crescent street, this afternoon. Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 in the First Methodist Episcopal church and interment will take place in Park cemetery.
Knights Templar will act as pallbearers and the Lake Superior Commandery will escort the body from the church to the cemetery, where Templar services will be conducted at the grave-side.

Stark, Henry Corn
Champions Selected

Kewanee, Ill., Oct. 29—(AP)—
Shucking 29.9 bushels of clean corn Saturday, Elmer Williams, the "Prayin' Husker," who attracted national attention two years ago, again won the right to represent Stark county in the state contest to be held at Galva next Friday.
William Mark of 35.8 bushels in 80 minutes made in 1925 has never been equalled.

Cambridge, Ill., Oct. 29—(AP)— Harold Love of Orion won the Henry county corn husking contest at Woodhull Saturday when he picked 27.7 bushels net.

Twelve contestants were entered.

INTEREST IN SPEECH

BY JAMES L. WEST

Associated Press Staff Writer
Washington, Oct. 30—(AP)—Aside from his speech of acceptance perhaps no address Herbert Hoover has made in this campaign has aroused keener advance interest than the one he will deliver next Friday at St. Louis.

Dealing almost entirely with farm relief, the speech not only will be the last word of the Republican nominee before election day on this outstanding issue, but it is likely to furnish the pattern after which his first message to Congress will be fashioned if he is successful in his quest of the presidency.

While the contents of the address are being closely guarded, it is believed that Hoover has followed the suggestions of his advisers to discuss in rather complete detail the manner in which he believes his formula for farm aid will work out and elaborate upon the various quotations in that formula.

In his acceptance speech, the Republican standard bearer put the tariff first in his discussion of the agricultural question, but advice received here indicated that his proposal for a farm board to handle crop surpluses with federal financial aid is one which has attracted the more widespread interest in the corn and wheat belts.

Greater tariff protection and a measure establishing a more satisfactory marketing system are coupled with the farm board and the three go to make up a program which congressional leaders doubt can be translated into legislation at the three months session of Congress which will begin on December 5.

Especially would this be so if advocates of the McNary-Haugen bill should renew their efforts on behalf of that legislation, which twice has been vetoed by President Coolidge. Herbert Hoover has stated that if Congress fails to act at this session and if the voters continue the Republican party in control of the government he will call an extra session of the Seventy-First Congress.

Hoover planned to finish his St. Louis speech today and to resume work on the three others he will deliver as he swings through the border states of Maryland, West Virginia, Kentucky and Missouri and on across Kansas, Colorado, Utah, Nevada and California.

CURTIS IN WISCONSIN

BY FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON

Associated Press Staff Writer
Enroute with Senator Curtis to Eau Claire, Wis., Oct. 30—(AP)—Senator Curtis, the Republican vice-presidential candidate, was on his way into Wisconsin today where some Republican leaders again are revolting against the national ticket. The nominee is to speak tonight in Eau Claire, his only appearance in this old time Republican state which gave its vote four years ago to its native son, Senator La Follette.

This year another of its Senators, Elaine, is advocating the election of Governor Smith. Over a nation-wide radio hook-up last night at South Bend, Ind., Senator Curtis questioned the sincerity of the Democratic presidential nominee on the tariff.

ROBINSON IN STATE

BY RAYMOND Z. HENLE

Associated Press Staff Writer
Decatur, Ill., Oct. 30—(AP)—The Illinois political situation was scrutinized by Senator Joe T. Robinson today in preparation for his second day of Illinois campaigning which was to take him as far south as East St. Louis before nightfall.

At Peoria yesterday the Democratic vice-presidential nominee reviewed Governor Alfred E. Smith's record of sponsoring legislation for the benefit of women. Last night in Springfield he said that the small business man and banker could not prosper unless the farmer's problem was solved. The Senator characterized Herbert Hoover's promise of an extra session of Congress for farm relief as "just another promise made at running time."

"Mr. Hoover has no plan for farm relief," he declared. "The only plan the farmers want he has called state socialism. There is no man who hears me who does not know that if Mr. Hoover is elected there will be no farm relief."

Senator Robinson's address here this afternoon was to be followed by another at East St. Louis tonight.

ATTACKS LEAGUE, KLAN

BY D. HAROLD OLIVER

Associated Press Staff Writer
Governor Smith's Train Enroute to New York, Oct. 30—(AP)—Homeward bound after a flying campaign visit to Maryland, Governor Smith was on record today with the blunt charge that the Anti-Saloon League and the Ku Klux Klan were forces working hand in hand with the Republican party to bring about his defeat.

Addressing one of the most demonstrative and colorful audiences of his presidential drive in the Fifth Regimental Armory in Baltimore last night, the Democratic presidential nominee vigorously assailed the League and the Klan and contended that Republican leaders, including Herbert Hoover, were "wiggling and wobbling" on the question of prohibition because their party was "held right down to earth by the power and the influence of the forces of intolerance."

Speaking in the same building where Woodrow Wilson was nominated 16 years ago and with the war president's widow on the platform, the Governor devoted a large part of his speech to the argument that the Republican party stood for "the old order of things" and stand-patism as opposed to the Democratic stand for "progressive" treatment of the big questions facing the country. Foreign policy, waterpower, the tariff, government reorganization—all were dealt with in detail before the prohibition and intolerance were reached.

Not An Act of Faith

The Anti-Saloon League, the nominee charged had flooded the country with propaganda, "in an effort to make God-fearing men and women believe that the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act are dogmas of religion."

"No church that I ever heard of, no church that you ever heard of," the Governor asserted amid loud applause, "attempted to make the eighteenth amendment or the Volstead act an act of faith."

"What is it?" he continued. "It is nothing more or less than legislation passed in the stress of war and lobbied through the Congress by the brow-beating methods of the Anti-Saloon League."

The Governor contended that every religion taught the value of sobriety and temperance, as well as the danger of intolerance, and declared he could not escape the thought that it must be "quite a shock to the American people to have the moral power of the church used to impress men and women with the idea that in talking against the eighteenth amendment of Volstead act they are against every church, or that they have sinned against God himself."

Senator Norris, Republican independent of Nebraska, who, in a speech Saturday night announced his support of Governor Smith, was said by the nominee to have received a "cold-blooded threat" from the Anti-Saloon League declaring it would withdraw its support of the Nebraska if he made that speech.

"That means," the Governor said amid cheers, "that all of Senator Norris' great work in the Senate, all the efforts that he put forth into the advancement of progressive legislation, all that he did for men, women and children throughout the country falls to the ground and crumbles into dust in the eyes of the Anti-Saloon League just as soon as he runs counter to their ideas and just as soon as he gets out of line and out of tune with their bigotry and intolerance."

Referring to "that gallant band of patriots known as the Ku Klux Klan" the Governor said: "I never hear the words without having the thought flashed across my mind, what must the American people think after the countless billions of dollars they have poured into the costly public education to see reared up in a country like ours an organization calling itself one hundred per cent American without the slightest notion of American ideals or American principles."

More Suicides than Murders in Illinois

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 30—(AP)—Study of the state's mortality statistics for 1927 show that 1866 deaths were homicides or suicides, Dr. Isaac D. Rawlings, state director of health, said today.

This is a total greater than the death toll from eight dangerous diseases. The total also showed more suicides than homicides.

Of the 744 murders last year, 436 occurred in Chicago and 308 in the rest of the state, giving a rate of 14 per 100,000 for Chicago, and 7 for downstate.

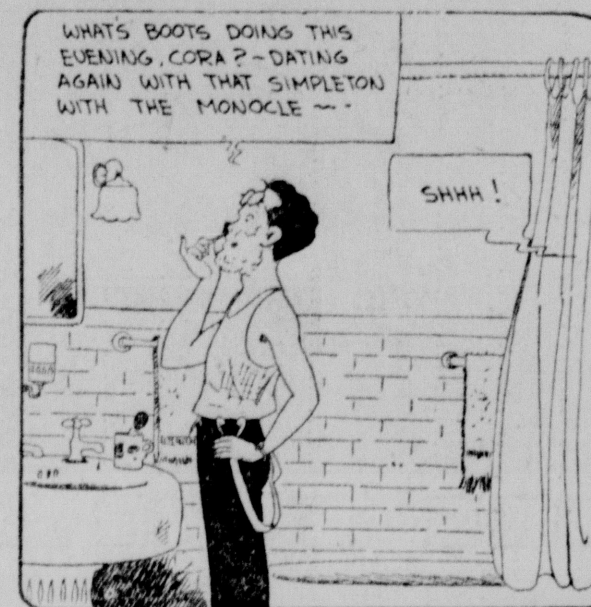

During the last fifteen years, the homicide rate has increased about 40 per cent, while there has been little change in the suicide rate.

NEW RACING DOG

London—A new racing dog—the saluki—will soon take his place with the greyhound on the dog tracks of the country. The ancestry of this canine aristocrat has been traced back to the time of the Pharaohs. The saluki is also known as the "greyhound of the desert."

Note yes on the 20 Million Dollar Bond Issue, Nov. 6. The entire cost is paid by hunting and fishing licenses.

RUTH DEWEY GROVES AUTHOR OF "WHEN A GIRL LOVES" "LOVE FOR TWO"

THIS HAS HAPPENED
JERRY RAY thinks that love is a delusion and makes up her mind to marry for money. Her plans for a vacation at Atlantic City are spoiled by the loss of the money she had saved. Nothing remains but to go camping with her roommate MYRTLE on the north shore of Long Island.

Their camp is wrecked when an airplane owned by young ALESTER CARSTAIRS crashes into it. The others escape injury, but Jerry is picked up unconscious by DAN HARVEY, the pilot. Alester drives Jerry to the doctor who finds that her injury is not serious.

On the way back, Alester stops at an inn for dinner and seems amused when Jerry refuses a drink. He introduces her to LEONTINE LERAUDY, who invites them to a birthday party.

Alester shows Jerry a gay time during her two weeks' vacation and tells her that he loves her madly but does not ask her to marry him. Myrtle warns her against him, but a letter from her mother revealing poverty and illness decides her to continue her efforts to win Alester. But how will she be able to buy a new frock for the big party he has invited her to?

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XIII

THE big, white-pillared store hummed with pre-opening activity.

At the various counters girls were busy putting merchandise out for display, accompanying their movements with a running chatter of overnight confidences.

One of these girls was silent, a little terrified, but determined to follow her plans through. It was wrong, yes, but so much was at stake. There were extenuating circumstances. And no one would be harmed. She would be very careful.

Jerry picked up a cobwebby affair and glanced quickly at the size mark.

Sixteen! It was just what she wanted, but she couldn't take it now. Too bad. Some of the tunic was one of a kind. She folded it quickly and piled it up with others in the neat rows on the counter.

It was unnecessary work, she considered, but the head of the department was particular. Five minutes after the barriers were down the counter would present a scene of such disorder as to make you weep.

It did. The sale had been well advertised. Jerry watched the grabbing, pawing hands with a strong desire to speak her mind about those who owned them. But the customer was always right.

THE eager pulling and digging became harder to bear when greedy hands reached for the tunic that Jerry had marked for herself. She was going to borrow that dress for the party, that is, if it remained unsold. There were others like it but none size 16. And the rest of the tunic was of heavy lace.

Two of the lighter tunics were sold immediately and Jerry's heart fell. The one she wanted would surely be the next to go. Then, unaccountably, the tide of favor turned to the coarser pieces. And as the day wore on and the tunic she wanted for one precious night remained unsold on the counter she began to maneuver to discourage its sale. Each time it threatened to become exposed on top of the heap she deftly thrust it deeper, if she could.

And by four o'clock, one hour before closing time, Jerry's tunic was still there. But she had begun to weaken. Of course she would return it in the morning undamaged and unsold. But suppose someone saw her taking it. Prying eyes were about. She would be accused of stealing. What a terrible mess.

THESE and similar remarks were freely given until the store's bell heralded the end of another working day. The return of the bertha was the straw that broke down Jerry's resistance. If customers could borrow things from she'd be in. Jerry Ray—a common thief!

"SOME more returns for you," a stock girl grinned at her as she dumped an armful of merchandise down on the counter. Jerry regarded the stuff with a scowl. That was the worst of being paid in commissions. Things came back—especially from charge customers.

And you didn't know anything about it half the time. Unless the customer paid cash. Then she had to talk to the aisle man. And no matter how tactfully he tried to refuse he always had to take the goods back. Even when it was the safest guess in the world that they had been worn. If Jerry had seen this happen once she had seen it happen a hundred times.

She picked up the things the stock girl had returned and put them away. There was a full at her end of the counter. She remembered ruefully that she had spent nearly half an hour with the woman who had bought the lace bertha. It was an expensive piece and had brought Jerry's book for the day up to a good figure. Before the sale was completed she had worried over the

GOPHERS SUFFER LOSS OF BRONKO NAGURSKI, STAR

Bone Crushing Plunger Suffered Injury to Spine Saturday

BY PAUL R. MICKELSON
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
Chicago, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Minnesota's gridiron machine, which has been bonecrushing its way to triumph for two years, today was crushed itself—crushed not only out of the Big Ten football championship but crushed physically.

Its biggest battering ram, Bronko "Big Nag" Nagurski suffered such a severe spinal injury in the Iowa game that he may be lost to the Gophers indefinitely; Duke Johnson, guard, was incapacitated with badly wrenched muscles in an automobile accident after the game, and the team general was somewhat shell-shocked, making its comeback campaign a difficult one.

Of the injuries, it is feared that Nagurski's is most serious. Nagurski was hurt in the second period of the Iowa game but refused to complain until the game was over. A cursory examination indicated that he had fractured a bone near the lower end of his spine.

Good News to Purple

But what was gloom at Minnesota was cheer at Northwestern where Coach Dick Hanley's Wildcats sensed a chance to break into the conference win column for the first time this season by whipping Minnesota Saturday. Northwestern came out of the gruelling Illinois game in splendid physical shape and with added confidence.

Cold weather stopped much of the practice in the Big Ten camps yesterday, but today word was sent out everywhere that the hardest workouts of the campaign were in order.

Ohio State erected larger floodlights for its practice field and planned to work by night in preparation for the invasion of Princeton's Tiger Saturday. The Buckeyes came out of the Indiana fray in splendid physical shape except for Leo Raskowski, star tackle, who injured his ankle. He may be out of the Princeton game.

Bad Badgers Reform

Wisconsin's line was bolstered by the return to good graces of one of its "bad boys," Joe Kresky, veteran guard. Gene Rose, star halfback, who was suspended with Kresky for breaking rules, may get back this week. Coach Glen Thistlethwaite plans to bolster his offensive this week for Alabama's invasion Saturday.

Coach Bob Zuppke of Illinois is scouting for a substitute for Kes Deimling at end. Deimling was injured in the Northwestern game and is expected to be out of the lineup for two weeks. Michigan, however, was free from injuries for almost the first time this year and was ready to send its full strength against the Illinois. More injuries have bobbed up at Chicago. Proudfoot, Giant Mauer tackle, and Ken Smith, the only reliable center in Coach Stagg's lineup, both may be out of the Pennsylvania game.

Iowa, Indiana and Purdue rested up yesterday. The Hawkeyes probably will use reserves against South Dakota Saturday, as will Purdue against Case, while Indiana has an off day.

BOLSTERING ILLINI

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Preparations for the swing to Ann Arbor were well under way today at Zuppke's Illini with their first two conference scalps in their belts, looked forward to conquests ahead.

Michigan, always a hard nut for Illinois to crack, is the next hurdle in the Orange and Blue's race to their second Western Conference Championship.

Weaknesses disclosed in the Northwestern game, which proved a bigger sore than expected, are to be thrashed out with special stress on defense against long, wild passes. Northwestern came dangerously close to completing several of the 30 and 40 yard variety just as Indiana did the previous week. Luckily none were completed.

Fritz Humbert was cut short on many of his line smashing efforts chiefly through the splendid defensive work of Henry Anderson, Northwestern's star right guard. Some bolstering on the Illinois line may be expected before Saturday.

It was Frank Walker, the Urbana flash, who took most of Humbert's thunder last Saturday. Walker was in the game at the start and for a few moments at the finish but he seemed to find holes that Humbert's dash failed to reveal.

Bob Zuppke's pessimistic talk of the Illinois defense is not entirely an effort to make "bear" stories. Thousands of students, alumni and visitors agreed to that Saturday when Northwestern's snarlins' W. H. cats threw a scare into the Illini in the closing minutes of play which made many see visions of a 7 to 6 victory for the Purple.

Pass defense was ragged and the punting was weak compared to the splendid kicks made by Captain Holmer of Northwestern.

With the Ohio storm cloud in the offing and the dangerous Michigan and Chicago teams to defeat, Illinois faces a difficult task if another conference championship is to be won.

The loss of Deimling, varsity right end, makes the task especially hard. It has been the ends and centers that have given Zuppke trouble this season. His center difficulty seems solved with the eligibility of Harry Richman and the good work of Ken Roush. "Red" Lewis, sophomore will probably work with "Bud" Jolley on the ends.

SPORT SLANTS

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 30.—Rene De Vos, Belgian middleweight star, and Dave Shade of California meet in a ten-rounder at the Coliseum here, Friday, Nov. 2, for the right to first consideration as challenger for the 160-pound championship.

Promoter Jim Mullen has signed Mickey Walker to defend his middleweight title at the Coliseum this winter. Jack Kearns, manager of the New Jersey campaign, agreed to send him into the ring here right after the first of the year and fight any man selected by Mullen.

It looks as if Dave Shade will have no one but himself to blame if he lost the party selected by Mullen to fight it out for the crown now adorning Mickey's head.

For quite some time Shade has been dogging Walker for a championship match. He had a chance when both boys were welters and Mickey held the title in the 147-pound class. Kearns' man was given the decision in a gruelling 15-round battle and Shade as well as most of the fans, thought Dave should have been declared the winner.

Shade and Walker are middleweights now, with Mickey the champion and Dave crying for a shot at the title.

The battle between Shade and De Vos here on Friday night should be a thriller. With the added incentive of a Walker match to the winner, the boys will be at it hammer and tongs from the very first gong.

Both men are in hard training at Mullen's gymnasium on Randolph street. De Vos works at 1:30 p. m. and Dave at 3 o'clock. They will box today and tomorrow.

Mullen is completing his preliminary card and will have it all ready by tonight. Jim is going to support the De Vos-Shade brawl with some great fights and will sign Wilson Yarbo, Cleveland 160-pounder, for a ten-rounder in the semi windup.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 30.—(AP)—The race for the mythical title in the Big 12 Illinois High School conference was narrowed at Peoria last week when Coach Anderson's 1927 title holders from Lincoln went down in defeat before the Peoria Manual eleven.

It was the first conference set back for the Lincoln preppers in nearly three years. By its victory, Peoria Manual High School placed itself in the lead.

Champaign and Manual are the only two contenders left in the race for the crown—each school having a clean slate. The two squads do not meet this year, and it is expected a post-season contest will be held to decide the winner, providing each team continue their winning streak.

Coach Moyer's University City lads upset all hope two weeks ago and handed Kerke's Peoria Central eleven a drubbing which put them out of the running. Urbana is tied for third place with the Central aggregation.

Champaign still has four conference foes to overcome. The hardest one will be the Urbana squad in the two teams' annual clash on Turkey Day. The other three opponents are Mattoon, Pekin and Springfield.

Manual has but three conference teams to whip before the Peoria group can lay claim to title honors. Turkey Day will also see them facing their stiffest foe, Peoria Central, in another annual clash. Pekin and Urbana are two other loop squads the Manual aggregation must defeat to retain their standing.

The conference standing:

School	W.	L.	T.	Pct.
Peoria Manual	3	0	0	1.000
Champaign	3	0	0	1.000
Lincoln	2	1	0	.750
Peoria Central	2	1	0	.667
Urbana	2	1	0	.667
Pekin	1	1	0	.500
Danville	0	2	0	.000
Decatur	0	1	0	.000
Springfield	0	2	0	.000
Mattoon	0	2	0	.000
Jacksonville	0	3	0	.000

Lawrenceville, Ill., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Three undefeated teams are tied for the leadership of the Southeastern Illinois High School conference football race. Fairfield, Lawrenceville and Carmi remain at the head of the standing by virtue of victories over opponents in Saturday's games.

Fairfield beat Flora, 20 to 0; Lawrenceville ran over Crossville by a one side score of 132 to 0; and Carmi nosed out Albion in a 6 to 0 game.

In other conference tussles, Bridgeport defeated Grayville, 12 to 0; Olney whipped Mt. Carmel 6 to 0; and McLeansboro tied Mt. Vernon, a non-conference eleven in a scoreless tilt.

Four conference games are on this week's slate. Lawrenceville clashes with Mt. Carmel; Carmi at Crossville, Albion and Grayville; and Olney invades McLeansboro.

The conference standings:

School	W.	L.	Pct.
Fairfield	5	0	1.000
Carmi	2	0	1.000
Lawrenceville	2	0	1.000
Bridgeport	4	1	.800
Flora	3	1	.750
McLeansboro	1	1	.500
Olney	2	2	.500
Grayville	1	3	.250
Albion	1	4	.200
Mt. Carmel	0	3	.000
Crossville	0	6	.000

"If it is impossible for these states to come in," Prehn said, "the Illinois Commission will then attempt to arrange a working agreement whereby suspensions and other rulings will be respected by Illinois and the state where the agreement is made. If this can be accomplished, the ring game will be advanced considerably."

Sex Differences in Constipation

By Anthony Bassler, M. D.
New York City

(This series of articles is prepared under the direction of the Gorgas Memorial, which is organized to perpetuate the life work of the late Major-General Gorgas in preventing unnecessary illness. The headquarters of the Gorgas Memorial are at 1331 G Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.)

A popular writer has said "woman, thy constipated sex." But man is just as much so. The great difference is that in woman it is low in the colon, while in man it is high. In both, the effects on health and well being are the same, and these run all the way from none at all to quite considerable, according to the individual.

No physician has ever wisely concluded as to what normality in bowel movements is. The majority have standardized this on one movement a day. Some, with certain institutions, have claimed there should be three each day—one for each meal.

The truth is that one sees persons in whom a movement two or three times a week is sufficient and normal, others in whom daily movements are necessary, and still others in which they must be more frequent.

If health is being maintained, if the movements are soft (or the last part is) and if there is a feeling of satisfaction and of emptying after movements, it is normal whatever the frequency.

The American public takes too much medicine. Excepting in most unusual instances, cascara, rhubarb, mineral oil, and perhaps an occasional dose of phenolphthalein or a small dose of calomel, is the limit of medication that should be employed.

always causes a crippling of the colon that is hard to cure.

There are "57 varieties" of constipation, as there are of headache. To cure them, the cause must be determined and treated logically. In the absence of the exactly known cause, one should experiment with simple things, preferably those of a food character. An abundance of fruit, fresh vegetables, salads and "roughage" is most helpful. Bran and psyllium seeds are easily taken "roughage." If the bowel is spastic, "roughage" in the diet intensifies the constipation, and makes matters worse. Agar-agar works well with the young and old, but only moderately well with those in middle life. An abundance of lactose sugar taken several times in the day on an empty stomach have proved with many a good antacid, nutrient and eliminator for bowel and kidneys. Excepting in thin people, five or more glasses of tap water are sometimes laxative. Stewed prunes, an old German advice for constipation, are still worth while. When cooked with dried figs and a few senna pods, usually they answer effectively. The mineral oils abundantly sold for the purpose are not so effective as the soft paraffins (petroleum jelly, vaseline). The latter can be heated slightly if desired to be drunk as a fluid.

The greatest causes of constipation are ignorance, false modesty, laziness, over-eating and under-eating and lack of exercise. By ignorance is meant not observing or judging the number of movements one's body should have to keep healthy. By false modesty is meant not responding as soon as possible to the call when the sensation for bowel elimination occurs. By laziness is meant just what the word implies. Over and under-eating are controllable by will power, while lack of exercise can be made up by golf, tennis, walking, gymnastics or calisthenics nights and mornings.
